

Compton Event Upgrades to DNP DS620A™ and DS820A™ Photo Printers for National Event Services

What started as an experience as a disappointed customer when his daughter's photos in a theatrical production were not at the level of quality he had hoped for, has become Compton Event, one of the largest conference, tradeshow, and event photography companies in the country. Founded in 2009 by long-time photographer Bob Compton, the company strives to create the highest levels of engagement and interaction with their customers.

Drawing on his experience as a photographer, Compton created innovative and fun products for the performers and their families, and perfected a multi-camera process to capture the drama of a live production. Today, the company's customized systems are designed for fast-paced entertainment and have created a niche market within the meetings and convention industry.

The Kansas City, Missouri-based company produces over 230,000 images a year using DNP dye-sublimation printers. Always in search of ways to improve the range and quality of services offered to his clients, Compton recently upgraded his fleet of printers to DNP's DS620A and DS820A printers.

"We've been a long-term partner with DNP and trust the level of speed and reliability and quality their printers provide to meet the demands of the large-scale events we typically handle," said Compton. "For us, it all comes down to speed and reliability. We don't have the option for downtime when we know we can have as many as a few thousand people go through our booth in an evening."

In addition to excellent image quality and output speed, the DS620A and DS820A provide the same strong performance as their predecessors while being smaller, lighter, and using far less electricity.

"We often find ourselves operating in environments where we're reliant on a generator," said Compton. "The low power mode on these new printers is an extremely valuable feature for us in these situations."

Since upgrading to the new printers in early 2018, Compton has found the same level of bullet-proof performance he has come to expect over the years from DNP. Despite their compact size, the DS620A and DS820A provides the fastest print speeds available for the professional photography market including standard 4x6-inch images in less than nine seconds and 5x7-inch prints in approximately 15 seconds.
