

Brio Photo Booth Company Finds Early Success with DNP DS620A™ Photo Printers

New Open-Air Photo Booth Company Invests in DNP to Deliver the Highest Quality Images for Broad Range of Events and Clients

Hawaii-based professional photographer Tracey Lyn Gapol enjoyed photo booths so much that she founded Brio Photo Booth Company in the summer of 2017. Leveraging her existing expertise as a professional photographer, she delivers a modern open-air photo booth experience for weddings and events on the Big Island.

Aware that the quality of her photo printer would be central to her company's success, Gapol did considerable research, including attending the WPPI Expo for wedding and portrait photography professionals. It was there that she had the opportunity to see DNP dye-sublimation photo printers in action.

“Shortly after the show, I purchased a DNP DS620A and it changed everything for me. The speed and reliability enabled us to serve our clients in a way that we were never able to before,” stated Gapol.

For Gapol, great image quality and speed as well as portability were the most important factors for her in choosing to use DNP. “The nature of the photo booth business is that you are constantly on the move, nothing is ever permanent. The ability to easily transport and duplicate our set-up is critical. Additionally, our DNP printers have proven to be amazingly durable, economical, and deliver excellent quality,” added Gapol.

Despite its compact size, the DS620A provides the fastest print speeds available for the professional photography market, including standard 4x6-inch images in less than nine seconds and 5x7-inch prints in approximately 15 seconds.

One of the most satisfying moments for Gapol is seeing the reaction of her customers when they receive their printed photos immediately at events. “We live in a digital age now and something is lost when a photo is taken but it only exists on a screen. The ability to walk away from an event with a high quality print really enhances our customers' experience,” stated Gapol.
